

Elmhurst School for Dance Pre-Vocational Programme Talent Days 2009

Love to dance? ...join us!

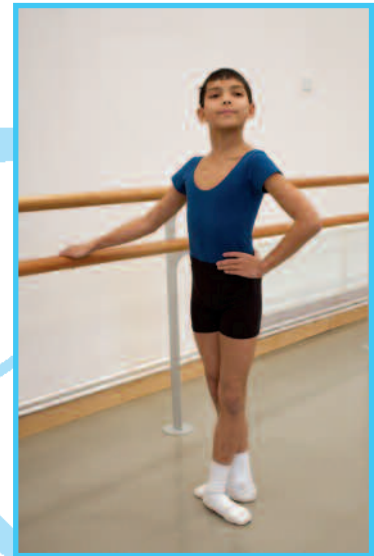

Find out more about Elmhurst's Saturday ballet, exercise and jazz classes for children who love to dance.

Elmhurst is one of the country's top ballet schools. Based in Birmingham, it enjoys a close relationship with Birmingham Royal Ballet, the country's leading touring classical ballet company.

The school holds Talent Days to find boys and girls to join its Saturday Pre-Vocational Programme. They provide a chance for young people from Academic Years 4, 5 and 6 (2009–10) with a passion for dance to meet Elmhurst's teachers and other children who enjoy moving to music. They are open to children with no formal movement teaching as well as those already taking dance lessons*.

Dance provides an enjoyable way to gain fitness and confidence. These lessons, taken and accompanied by some of Elmhurst's own internationally renowned teachers and musicians, are full of activity and packed with fun!

Visit www.elmhurstdance.co.uk to find out more about the school. If your child is interested in taking part, download a form from our website and, once completed, send it with your Talent Day fee to Elmhurst. Full details of the Talent Days will be sent out by post or e-mail.

photos: Elaine Mayson

* Children who already attend dance lessons will only be accepted onto the course with the approval of their current teachers and with their parents' undertaking to continue these classes.

Classes are £8.50 per session; no talented child will be declined a position through lack of funds.

Elmhurst School for Dance, 249 Bristol Road, Edgbaston, Birmingham B5 7UH; telephone: +44 (0) 121 415 2827; b.creaton@elmhurstdance.co.uk; www.elmhurstdance.co.uk